ROBE launches new website just before the Frankfurt exhibition

ROBE Show lighting launches new website shortly before the Frankfurt's ProLight & Sound exhibition. The new website is a very important step ahead in the way of communication with the distributors, dealers, end-users etc.

Thanks to the new 'content management system' it is now possible to administrate the whole website 'in house'. This system enables to upload all the news and information directly and thus keep the site up-to-date.
